Outcome: the first complaint received was in relation to electoral registration and the complaint was resolved at Stage 1 Frontline Resolution by explaining the issue they had encountered was due to the information they had provided to the ERO was incorrect.

The second complaint was in response to a complainant being dissatisfied with the service they had received from a member of the valuation team as they had not contacted the person at the time agreed by both parties. The complaint was upheld as the staff member had not responded when they had stated they would and this did fall short of our normal high standard of service. The staff member resolved the complaint at Stage 1 Frontline Resolution by apologising to the complainant and giving them an update on their council tax proposal. By dealing with the complaint directly, the staff member was reminded of the importance of contacting stakeholders at the timescale agreed and they saw firsthand the issues created when this is not done timeously.
